MC KITTRICK IN STATEMENT ON CLEAN-UP ORDER

Assures Governor Of Readiness To Eradicate Crime In State

ASSERTS $100,000 NEEDED FOR JOB

Money and Men Desired To Vigorously Conduct Inquiries

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 28.—Attorney General Roy McKittrick assured Gov. Lloyd C. Stark today he was "in hearty accord and sympathy with your expressed desire to eradicate 'the blight of crime and corruption from Kansas City'" and explained it would take $100,000 to do the job.

The fiery official who has made no effort to conceal his irritation that Stark's blistering letter of last Friday was sent without previous consultation, added this warning:

"I want to make it plain that in co-operating with you in a campaign of eradication of crime and corruption, I do not care to do any shadow boxing or to make any futile efforts.

Asks Aid And Funds

"All I ask is sufficient men and money to enable me to vigorously and effectively conduct the investigations and prosecutions of law violators without any favoritism to anyone."

The governor's letter last week, which exploded like a bombshell in McKittrick's face, directed the attorney general to "clean up" Kansas City—"a stench in the nostrils of the decent citizens of the United States"—and to file ouster actions against any officials who refuse him aid.

McKittrick twice delayed his reply to the governor in order to have time for care and deliberation in its preparation.

He seized upon Stark's reference to the Dewey prosecution in New York as the basis of his plea for more funds, saying he could not begin the Kansas City investigation until the money was available.

"I agree with you that it may be necessary to do in Missouri what has been done in the city of New York," he said. "In this connection, I wish to point out that in the investigation and prosecutions carried on by Mr. Thomas E. Dewey, the success of his efforts was made possible only by the fact that he had ample resources, including finances, assistant prosecutors, investigators, special detectives, accountants and many other types of trained helpers.

"You are correct, as stated in your letter, it will require 'much labor' to carry out the tremendous tasks you have directed me to undertake. To realize any degree of success, it will take time, man-power and money."

"As you know, the present resources of the attorney general's department are limited, and the assistants in this department are already burdened with the many duties that have been imposed upon my office...."

INTER-CITY BOXING BOUTS TONIGHT

A full evening of entertainment in the boxing sport will be had tonight at Convention Hall, Liberty Park when the St. Anthony amateur boxing team of Kansas City comes to Sedalia to meet the Democrat-Capital Golden Gloves in inter-city bouts. The first bout will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

Tickets for this fight can be obtained at the Democrat-Capital sports department, or by calling 1000 up until 6 o'clock. After 7 o'clock reservations can be made by calling Liberty Park, 932.

FIVE CONVICTED IN THE USE OF THE MAILED FOR FRAUD

Officers Of Credit Corporation Found Guilty At Indianapolis, Ind.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 28.—(P)—A federal jury convicted five officers of the Continental Credit Corporation of Winchester, Ind., and associated firms today of using the mails to defraud in schemes which the government contended cost midwestern business houses and individuals approximately $1,200,000.

John W. Moore, Sr., Continental's president, and his son John W. Moore, Jr., secretary-treasurer were convicted on all 12 counts of the indictments against them. Maximum sentences of 57 years are possible in their cases.

Kenneth P. Kimball, president of the Kim-Murphy company of Lansing, Mich., and R. S. Phillips, former secretary-treasurer of the Mineral Felt Company of Toledo, O., were convicted on two counts. They can be sentenced to maximum terms of seven years.

Russell E. Wise of Union City, Continental's attorney, was convicted on two counts, and a maximum sentence of 10 years is possible.

All of the defendants were convicted of conspiracy, excepting Wise.

Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell announced he would pass sentences January 5.

The judge indicated two other officers who pleaded guilty would be sentenced with the others. They are Hiram Browne, executive vice president of the Mineral Felt company and A. Harry Eikenberry, an official of Lang Industries, Inc., of Muncie, Ind.

The government contended Continental kept money obtained by selling notes for customers, "kited" checks and issued worthless warehouse receipts through connivance with the associated firms.

Each of those who stood trial denied the accusations.

Attorneys for the Moores and Phillips indicated they would appeal. Alexander Cavin, attorney for Kimball, said no appeal is planned in his behalf.

The defendants were released on their present bonds pending pronouncement of sentence.

HAROLD CONWAY IS INJURED IN COLLISION

Miss Elizabeth Guy, county health nurse, and Harold Conway, resident of Hughesville, suffered injuries, believed not serious, about noon today, when cars they were driving collided, head-on, at the Nat Lower corner near Longwood.

Mr. Conway has a broken right knee cap. Miss Guy suffered lacerations on her forehead, bruises and cuts on her knees, and was brought to the Bothwell hospital in McLaughlin's ambulance. Conway was brought to the hospital in a car.

Both cars were badly damaged.

INJURED AS AUTO CRASHES INTO TREE

A 1938 Buick sedan owned and driven by Charles Beck, of Carrollton, was badly smashed and Mr. Beck received minor cuts and bruises, when the car crashed into a tree and then bounced into a telephone pole in front of 508 South Park avenue, about 3:30 o'clock this morning.

The police were notified and Officer Anson Finnell upon making an investigation found Mr. Beck suffering from injuries and took him to the Bothwell hospital where emergency treatment was rendered by Dr. John B. Carlisle, and he was later released.

The front part of the car was badly smashed and the rear fender on the left side smashed down when it hit the telephone pole.

RESIDENCE ON BROADWAY DAMAGED IN A FIRE

The fire companies at 2 o'clock this afternoon were called to the residence of R. F. Woolery, 413 East Broadway, where fire did more than $100 damage.

The fire started during the process of thawing out some water pipes.

PLANS PROPOSED TO KEEP POLITICS OUT OF RELIEF

Creation of Non-Partisan County Boards Is Considered

GROUPS WOULD SIFT COMPLAINTS

Several Suggestions Are Made By Returning Congressmen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(P)—President Roosevelt was reported today to be considering creation of non-partisan county boards to act on complaints of "politics in relief."

A well-informed person said that although details have not been completely worked out, the president might endorse such a system to meet criticism directed at WPA during the recent election campaign.

This became known at a time when the senate campaign expenditures committee was working at top speed to get its recommendations ready for the opening of congress next week. The committee investigated charges that WPA funds were used to influence the results of various primary and general elections.

A person in close touch with the white house said that what the president had in mind was appointment of men in each country in the United States to sift complaints of discrimination in the administration of relief. The groups would serve without pay.

Any relief worker who thought he had been denied equal treatment could appeal to the county board, which would pass on the justice of his case and take any appropriate action.

The president was represented as feeling details should be worked out by congress. It was understood, however, the plan would not contemplate shifting to the counties the responsibility for actual administration of relief funds which would remain under the federal government.

Suggestions Advanced

Returning members of congress also have advanced several suggestions for preventing political use of relief funds.

Senator Hatch (D-N.M.) endorsed a proposal by Senator Byrnes (D-S.C.) to prevent members of congress from helping to obtain approval for any WPA or PWA project. Hatch said he would like to go further and prohibit congressmen from endorsing candidates for jobs with relief agencies.

He said he again would propose legislation to prohibit political activity by federal employees and to prohibit intimidation or coercion of relief workers. Senator Hayden (D-Ariz.), who opposed the Hatch amendment last session, said he believed a modified version might be accepted by the new congress.

Meanwhile Senator Adams (D-Colo.) chairman of the subcommittee on relief appropriations, predicted the anticipated special appropriation for WPA would total between $650,000,000 and $750,000,000. This money would be expected to last until July 1.

While the relief set-up occupied the attention of many legislators, senate and house leaders arranged a series of white house calls to help President Roosevelt put finishing touches on his message to congress.

Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex.), house majority leader, planned to talk with the president during the day. Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, will see him in the next day or so, and Speaker Bankhead probably will go to the white house before his message to congress starts.

Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont.) of the senate interstate commerce committee discussed railroad legislation with the chief executive yesterday. In company with Chairman Lee (D-Calif.) of the house interstate commerce committee he will talk again with Mr. Roosevelt later this week.

The president is expected to call in other influential legislators for talks on certain portions of his message, which will be delivered in person January 4.

Injured In Auto Accident

Mrs. D. Nations, wife of D. Nations, manager of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., in Sedalia, received painful but not believed to be serious injuries last Sunday night when their Chevrolet ear figured in an accident at Clarksville, Texas. The car was badly damaged and the rear fender on the left side smashed down when it hit the telephone pole.

The police were notified and Officer Anson Finnell upon making an investigation found Mr. Beck suffering from injuries and took him to the Bothwell hospital where emergency treatment was rendered by Dr. John B. Carlisle, and he was later released.

BISHOP LILLIS IS CRITICALLY ILL

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 28.—(P)—Bishop Thomas F. Lillis, bishop of the Kansas City Catholic Diocese since 1910, was reported in a dangerous condition at his home here today.

He will be 78 years old next March and celebrated his golden jubilee of ordination into the priesthood in August, 1935. He was bishop of the Leavenworth diocese before coming here.

Prayers were said for him by priests and nuns in all the Catholic churches in the city today.

The bishop contracted a severe cold which, an attending physician said, was followed by myocarditis, a degeneration of the heart muscle.

Monsignor McCaffrey, second to the bishop in affairs of the diocese, administered the church's last sacraments at 7:30 A. M.

Bishop Paul C. Schulte of the Leavenworth diocese said in praise of Bishop Lillis "his years of administration of the Leavenworth diocese have been characterized by deep spirituality combined with temporal guidance which are monumental in the history of Leavenworth."

A well-informed person said that although details have not been completely worked out, the president might endorse such a system to meet criticism directed at WPA during the recent election campaign.

This became known at a time when the senate campaign expenditures committee was working at top speed to get its recommendations ready for the opening of congress next week. He was heating a piece of metal with the torch, that was to be used as a patch for a dipper on a steam shovel. F. Biery, who was working with Williams was pounding the metal into shape with a sledge hammer when the accident occurred. The hose connection on the tank broke or came off and apparently shot gasoline on Williams who was set afire by the flames of the torch.

Williams, was taken to the Bothwell Hospital in the McLaughlin Ambulance and an examination by Doctor John B. Carlisle revealed that the burns although painful were not of a serious nature. He will remain at the hospital.

A SIGNIFICANT BARK AT WASHINGTON

It would be easy to exaggerate the importance of the recent exchange of pleasantries between the German and United States governments. Such things as Secretary Ickes' speech, the German protest and the American rebuff of the protest make interesting headlines, arouse a certain amount of national ill-will and give the diplomats something to worry about; but they don't lead great nations close to war, especially when the nations are as far apart as Germany and America are.

So no one needs to fear that this dust-up is going to bring swastika-marked bombing planes or warships to American shores. After the first soreness wears off, business will go on just about as usual—except, of course, that the incident will be remembered for a long time by both sides.

The theory back of all this was never clearly stated, but it ran along the line that the nations of the world do have to live together, and that Germany would be much easier to live with if she were allowed to remove some of the grievances which were bothering her so much.

Recently, however, the picture has been changed. First came the Munich settlement, in which this policy of appeasement was carried to great lengths; on the heels of that came the incredible savagery of the anti-Jewish pogroms, along with new evidences that Hitler was planning still further adventures.

So it became clear that a new attitude was needed. Instead of going along and trying to be accommodating, it was up to the democracies to bark back a little. And the recent clash at Washington does represent a bark—quiet little bark, maybe, but unmistakably a bark.

Viewed from that angle, as the symbol of a new international attitude toward Hitler and his methods, the affair has a good deal of significance.

INSTRUCTION IN AVIATION TO BE GIVEN STUDENTS*President Approves Plan For It To 20,000 In Colleges

By RICHARD L. TURNER.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP) To provide pilots to man the nation's fighting planes in time of war, President Roosevelt approved Tuesday a plan for giving a course of instruction to 20,000 college students annually.

"Only by such an approach," said a simultaneous statement from the civil aeronautics authority, "can the United States adequately safeguard itself against the vast aerial militarization program now being pressed with fanatic zeal by foreign powers."

Both the President, who announced the plan at his press conference, and the authority stressed the prospective pilots would be trained first of all for civil aviation. The result, it was hoped, would be a stimulation of interest in private flying and a consequent increase in the productivity of American aircraft factories.

"It is more in keeping with the American spirit of preparedness," the authority said, "to build up a great pool of men and machines dedicated to and engaged in the pursuit of peace, but yielding first place to no other nation in flying skill or technical development, and quickly adaptable to military needs in the event of war."

Mr. Roosevelt said in answer to questions that while the instructors would be army and navy flyers there would be no training in combat tactics. However, he added, it was to be expected a proportion of the men trained would enter the army or navy reserve forces, and receive further training.

The president's announcement came as he prepared to send to Congress recommendations for a vast expansion of the national defense. High officials have said the administration contemplates increasing the number of the nation's warplanes to some 13,000.

LONELY CINDERELLA'S TEARS VANISH AS FAIRY GODMOTHER TAKES STAGE

The story thus far: Cinderella gives way to tears after her selfish stepsisters hie off to the grand ball, leaving her alone at home. Then very suddenly Cinderella's Godmother appears.

(Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

All godmothers are good, but Cinderella's is even better. She stops Cinderella's sobbing by telling her she can go to the Prince's ball on condition that she does as she is told. Of course, Cinderella agrees. But, imagine her surprise when she is requested to get a mousetrap from the pantry and a large pumpkin from the garden. Cinderella doesn't like mice at all. But she's a brave little girl and, after a few shudders, she fetches a trap with four in it, and then rushes out and drags in a big yellow pumpkin.

NEXT: Cinderella's Godmother continues the good work... Even the mice serve a useful purpose.

(Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

The Fairy Godmother watches the mice as they race around in the trap, silly things, and then decides they are fine, lively little fellows. The pumpkin, too, pleases her very much. Naturally, Cinderella is puzzled. What can anyone want with four mice and a plain old pumpkin? And what can they have to do with her going to the Prince's ball? She is just about to start asking questions when her Fairy Godmother raises her magic wand and tells Cinderella to be prepared for the biggest surprise of her young life.

(Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

You've seen a magician wave a stick and make a rabbit hop out of a plug hat. Well, that's nothing! Cinderella's Fairy Godmother simply stands before the forlorn, ragged little girl, reaches out and touches her with her magic wand and—what have we here? Cinderella, herself, in about as beautiful a gown as you've ever seen. And pretty glass slippers, too. Just the finery to wear to the Prince's ball. Why, it's hard for Cinderella to believe. So she looks again . . . and has to believe!

Heparin. Discovered in 1916. Now Found to Aid Clotting of Blood

This is the second of five articles describing medicine's major advances in 1938.

Sometimes many years pass before a product isolated and developed by the chemists can be adapted to diagnosis and treatment of disease. The anesthetics were known long before they were used for anesthesia. Nicotinic acid was long available before its special value was found for pellagra.

A substance called heparin, which seems to have the ability to stop coagulation of the blood, was discovered in the liver as early as 1916 and more recently has been found in other organs and tissues of the body. Apparently this product has the specific quality of preventing coagulation of the blood, yet the mechanism by which it does not been fully worked out.

There are two conditions in medical practice in which heparin would seem to have special possibilities. The first is in the transfusion of blood when it is frequently necessary to keep the blood from coagulating as it is passed from one person to another; second, to prevent the clotting of the blood in various parts of the human body.

Since this product was first discovered attempts were made to use it for blood transfusion but difficulties occurred because the product was not quite pure. Apparently the product when injected into the human body in a pure form will definitely delay the clotting time of the blood so that blood may then be taken from such a person and transferred in a syringe into veins of another person without any harm to the donor and with the possibility of considerable benefit to the recipient of the blood.

In the meantime laboratories throughout the world are making special studies of the use of this product to prevent clotting of blood in blood vessels during operations, after operations and perhaps particularly in operations on the blood vessels themselves.

Actually there is yet no certain proof that the use of this substance in the human body will prevent the formation of a blood clot. Obviously, if this effect could be accomplished, the result would be exceedingly useful in cases of excessive clotting of those blood vessels of the heart which are responsible for many cases of death.

Yet the promise is so great that studies are being made in many clinics to find out all possibilities. In some clinics the use of the product is being restricted to those cases in which excessive surgical procedures have been carried out.

Heparin is injected for varying periods up to 14 days after the operation. Samples are taken from the blood of the patient regularly to determine the rate of clotting. In some clinics it is reported that the method has been exceedingly useful in preventing operative complications.

It must be borne in mind, however, that under the circumstances following injection of heparin, bleeding might be excessive, so that special attention has to be paid to the control of hemorrhage.

Hitler Puts Nazi Sign On Free Danzig

ON the west bank of the navigable Vistula where it empties into the Baltic sea, medieval Free City of Danzig has long been coveted by the Nazis. Its population of 400,000 is 96 per cent German. It is a vital trade port.

So even before Adolf Hitler turned to the annexation of Austria and the Sudetenland he began Nazi operations in strategic Danzig. That was in 1933 when the National Socialists, dominated by Berlin, captured the new Danzig Volkstag, winning 38 of the 72 seats. And today the Nazis are still in control.

In the last three years the efforts of Nazis to make Danzig a dictator state have been so open that the Free City has appealed repeatedly to the League of Nations. The Free City was established under the treaty of Versailles to make a port for Poland. It is under the protection of the League but Poland is charged with the conduct of its foreign affairs.

Future of Danzig, however, appears to be sealed. Poland has developed recently a thriving new port of her own, Gdynia, and is not expected to oppose German demands. The League has done little. Meantime, Nazification proceeds apace, even to the Danzig postage stamp.

The Nazi swastika now appears on a current issue of Danzig paper, one stamp of which is shown here. The set comprises two values.

Teads cannot breathe in air like most creatures, but must swallow it, hence the constant motion seen in their throats.

• RAISING
A FAMILY

Asylum Waifs Often Claimed Later By Own Families

It seems odd to many people who wish to adopt a baby that none is to be found, especially when there are so many motherless infants in the world.

Orphan asylums and foundling homes, full to capacity at times, frequently are loath to let their charges go. This puzzles everyone, and especially the young couple who could make life so comfortable and happy for one of the pecked.

But it has been explained by the officers like this: "We keep such children in the hope that relatives may want them. Often it takes some time for them to make up their minds. But when they do, and they find that the child has been adopted by strangers, there is trouble. It would be simple enough if these relatives could be found and their consent gained. But as often as not, they cannot be located. They may not know there has been a baby born to their daughter or niece, or sister or cousin, as the case may be.

Mothers Sometimes Return

"After some months or years, the news reaches them. What are we to do then, if we have permitted the child to be taken into another home? And how can we expect foster parents to give them up after they have learned to love the little girl or boy they have welcomed?"

The staff of a foundling home had much the same story. It seems that young mothers who have left their babes for someone to look after, usually because they have no money to care for them, find later on that they not only can support the child, but hunger to have their own with them. It occasionally happens that two or three years later a mother will come to us demanding her baby. To hear that he has been adopted is poor comfort to her. She may make trouble or she may only go away sadly without a word. But we do everything in our power to have such children re-united with their own parent or grandparents only, but of generations gone. The infant's origin itself does not matter so much. The child cannot help that.

Look Into Origins

This accounts for the fact that orphans have children of all ages, who could have been adopted in infancy, but who now will find no home. What a pity that those without children hesitate to take a child just because he has the start of several years. I can understand it, but it's too bad, just the same.

There is this to be said for the foundling. Often the tragic little bundle is illegitimate. And nothing can be discovered about its parents; which is a good thing to know in case of adoption.

Yet, there is the same chance in adopting a known child. A child is what he is, and the best-born may be a throw-back to something fine or something not so fine, as heredity and character is not a matter of parents or grandparents only, but of generations gone. The infant's origin itself does not matter so much. The child cannot help that.

WHEAT AND CORN BOTH IN ADVANCE

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Reported European purchasing of 2,000 tons of United States wheat and 3,000 tons of Canadian assisted major fractional gains of Chicago prices today.

Weather news, however, was the chief constructive market influence.

The outlook was for a second severe cold wave by tomorrow night.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 2% to 3% higher than yesterday's finish, May 68 1/2 to 68 1/4c, July 68 1/4 to 68 3/4c, corn 1/2 to 1 cent up, May 52c, July 53 1/4c, and oats 1/4 to 3/4 advanced.

Guard Must Think And Act Fast When Faced With Two Offensive Opponents.

(Ninth of 20 instructive basketball articles by famous coaches.)

By DICK ROMNEY

Utah State Coach

LOGAN, Utah, Dec. 28.—There is no tougher spot in basketball than to be a guard trying to protect the basket and finding yourself alone with two opponents in possession of the ball coming from opposite directions.

To stay within the rules and stop a single opponent headed for the basket with the ball is enough of a job.

The guard facing two foes bent on scoring must either intercept the ball, rush the offensive men so that they become excited and do not shoot accurately, or delay their progress until a teammate comes up.

This requires headwork and footwork. The guard's opponents would like to have him charge from under the basket toward one of them... leaving a scoring zone open for the other to take a set-up shot. The guard must not be drawn out too far from the basket. He must feint and fake, not only with his body but with eyes and actions to fool his opponents as much as possible.

Very often a guard is able to intercept the ball by faking toward one man, and scrambling over for the interception when the man who is rushed passes to his teammate.

Nothing will help a guard handle such a situation as much as practice under similar conditions. I frequently hold practice drills with two men attempting to score on a lone defender.

MUNGO NOT BE SOLD OR TRADED

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Dec. 28—(P)—The Brooklyn baseball club has made the approach of the New Year official by issuing its annual announcement that Van Lingle Mungo, the big fireball pitcher with the ailing arm and the sultry disposition, will not be sold or traded "because we expect him to win 20 games for us next season."

This statement, delivered solemnly about this time of year by each succeeding Brooklyn manager, is becoming part of the language, like the Gettysburg address. Nobody seems to know why the Dodgers feel this way about Mungo, for in eight successive seasons at Ebbets field he has been only an expensive "promise." But they do.

Probably it's because Mungo is a fast-ball pitcher. When his arm feels right and he isn't nursing a grudge against one or more of his teammates, Mungo is tremendously fast—"almost as fast as Johnson." Managers don't like to let a real speedballer ever get away from them.

Every other club in the National League has at one time or another tried to buy or trade for Mungo, and some of the offers have been fantastic. Just a year ago the Chicago Cubs offered $75,000 and four players for the mountain boy. Brooklyn, as always, said "No." They held on to their "ace," and so he won four games for them and lost 11.

Mungo's salary for the last several years has been popularly reported at $15,000, and he has been a chronic holdout. He probably will be able to demand and get as much next spring. Even though there is no guarantee his pitching wing will be in shape. It's a gamble the Brooklyn club has to take. Mungo still is the team's only hope to climbing to the first division. Here's Mungo's big league won and lost record:

1931	3-1	1932	13-11	1933
16-15	1934	18-16	1935
16-10	1936	18-19	1937	9-11
1938	4-11	Total	won 97	lost 94
